ARKANSAS.

Special Evangelistic Campaign.—The Presbytery of Ouachita at its last regular meeting determined to enter upon a special evangelistic campaign and secure a faithful and capable minister with gifts suitable that he might be able to go into any and all of our churches and conduct a special meeting. The arrangements were left mainly to the chairman and Secretary of the Home Mission Committee. They have been very fortunate in their efforts to secure such a man and have made arrangements with the Home Mission Committee of Arkansas Presbytery to secure one, half the time of their evangelist, Dr. W. H. Richardson, for one year, beginning November 1, 1909. He will give November and December to the Presbytery of Arkansas and January and February to Ouachita, conducting two meetings a month, and will then return to Arkansas Presbytery and will so alternate for two months with each Presbytery till end of the year, October 31. Pastors and churches of Ouachita Presbytery desiring the services of Dr. Richardson in meetings will correspond with the Chairman of Home Missions J. C. Williams, De Queen. In addition to this special work by Dr. Richardson, the Presbytery has a competent pastor-evangelist, Rev. Flournoy Shepperson, who looks after the weak vacant churches and mission points. The Presbytery has planned for great results for the year 1910 and hopes for one of the best years of its history.

FLORIDA.

Green Cove Spring: In some way, through inadvertance, the name of Rev. Wm. N. Mebane, Ph. D., does not appear in the Minutes of the General Assembly for 1909, as a member of Lexington Presbytery. Will those who have a copy of the minutes, add his name and correct this omission? Please attend to this.

Wm. C. White, Stated Clerk.

GEORGIA.

Synod of Georgia: Met at Cedartown in its 65th session on the 9th, with a large attendance. Rev. R. Orme Flinn, of Atlanta, the retiring moderator, preached the opening sermon. Dr. I. S. McElroy, of Columbus, was elected moderator. In addition to the usual routine of business, the sessions were enlivened by addresses by Rev. A. L. Phillips, D. D., of Richmond and Mr. H. C. Ostram, of Athens, on Sunday schools and the Laymen's Movement. Rev. L. C. Vass, delivered an address on Mission Work in Africa with stereopticon views. And strong addresses on John Calvin, were delivered by Dr. A. A. Little, on "Calvin the Man," Dr. W. L. Lingle on "Calvin and Servetus," and Dr. R. C. Reed on "Calvin's Contribution to the Reformation." The weather was fine and Cedartown gave the visitors a most cordial welcome.

The Agnes Scott Endowment: An effort to increase the endowment of Agnes Scott was begun on Sunday last. In every Presbyterian Church in Atlanta and vicinity there was inaugurated a campaign to raise $110,000 by the midnight of November 30, for the Agnes Scott College endowment fund, which will make that well-known institution for young women a million-dollar institution. This campaign was undertaken by having each minister to deliver a special sermon on education, at the morning service, followed by a brief business-like talk from some prominent laymen, wherein the plan for raising this fund, and the uses to which it is to be put, were outlined in full. S. M. Inman made the talk at the Central Presbyterian Church; J. K. Orr, at the First Presbyterian Church; Thornwell Jacobs, at the North Avenue Presbyterian Church; C. D. McKinney, at the Moore Memorial Church; James R. Bachman, at the Kirkwood Presbyterian Church; William M. Everett, at the West End Presbyterian Church, and Professor H. B. Arbuckle, at the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Augusta: We call attention to the publications of Ladies' Foreign Missionary Society. A Missionary Kalendar (programmes for missionary meetings), twenty-five cents per single copy; ten copies or more, ten cents each. Missionary Exercises for Children No. 2, twenty cents. Cradle Rolls, fifty cents. Suggestive Outlines for Children's Societies (by Missions Workers of First Presbyterian Church, Augusta), five cents. Address Mrs. Charles Parr, corresponding secretary, Centre street, Augusta, Ga.

Darien: A very pleasant and, to the Presbyterian church of Darien, very important occasion, was the service held on Wednesday evening last, at which time the installation of the pastor-elect, Rev. W. S. Milne, took place. The Rev. Mr. Patterson, of Blackshear, and Rev. Mr. Thomas and Mr. Wright, of Brunswick, were appointed by Presbytery to officiate. Owing to sickness in his family, Mr Thomas was not present, but Mr. Patterson, as chairman of the commission, did all the work. There was a good crowd present. The fact that Mr. Milne who has been stated supply for ten months, and has endeared himself to all, is now the installed pastor of the church causes great joy to his members and foretells new effort in behalf of the work.

Elberton: This church, which recently entered its splendid new building, has just passed through a gracious season of refreshing, in a series of meetings conducted by Rev. George F. Robertson, of Charlotte, N. C. Seventeen new members have been added to the roll since the meeting closed, and the church was much helped and strengthened in wisdom, in grace, and in influence in the community. Mr. Robertson easily ranks as one of the foremost evangelists of our Church, in preaching power and in personal work, preaching the plain, simple truths of the Scripture with wonderful force and effect. But his friends are anxious that he should settle in some strong pastorate, as they fear the constant strain on his throat in the evangelistic work may increase an annoying trouble there, while the pastorate work would not subject him to that risk. Having received such a blessing themselves, this church is now gladly lending its pastor, Rev. C. I. Stacy, to the Presbyterians of Macon, for a ten days' Bible Institute, to be conducted by him in the Vineville Church, of that city, where he was for many years general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Carrollton: At a recent meeting held in this church, God's people were graciously revived, and there were eight additions to the membership on profession of faith, five of whom were children of the Covenant and from the Sunday school. Rev. W. A. Nisbet, D. D., of Savannah a former pastor of this church and greatly beloved in the community, did the preaching. His sermons were clear, simple and forceful presentations of the teachings of God's Word, emphasizing the doctrines that are fundamental—the awful nature of sin—the wonderful love of God, salvation through the atoning merits of a Divine Saviour, repentance towards God, faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, and the necessity and importance of good works. The harvest, under the workings of the blessed Holy Spirit was a rich one, but, I am persuaded, not all yet gathered. To God be all the glory.
